The pins or emblems that a student earns at Rogers are the symbols of his general success in his school life.

The school pin, Girls' League and Boys' Federation pins, club pins and the ultimate honor, the National Honor Society pin, are given only when a student becomes a member of the group. Athletic and music letters are awarded when a student has fulfilled the necessary requirements.

He merits membership in these organizations only after having unlocked the various doors to success, such as scholarship, personality, sportsmanship, and service.

To unlock these doors, he must have keys. Fortunately, the keys aren't hard to obtain; in fact, they are actually provided because the master key which unlocks all the doors is the student's own effort and hard work.

Through hard work, the student can be successful in the various school activities and so earn the school medals of honor.

The modern educational system strives to educate the whole student: mentally, physically, and morally. Therefore, our faculty is composed of different kinds of instructors, teachers, coaches and advisers.

These instructors are actually our leaders. They guide us to knowledge, and good habits through classroom discipline and good advice, in and out of the classroom.

Without instructors, education is not impossible, but it is very difficult and limited. Wrong conclusions or answers are often arrived at by a beginner who has to work alone, or is trying to learn something. Incorrect methods for work and play are easy to attain if a student is without good advice, gained from experience and knowledge.

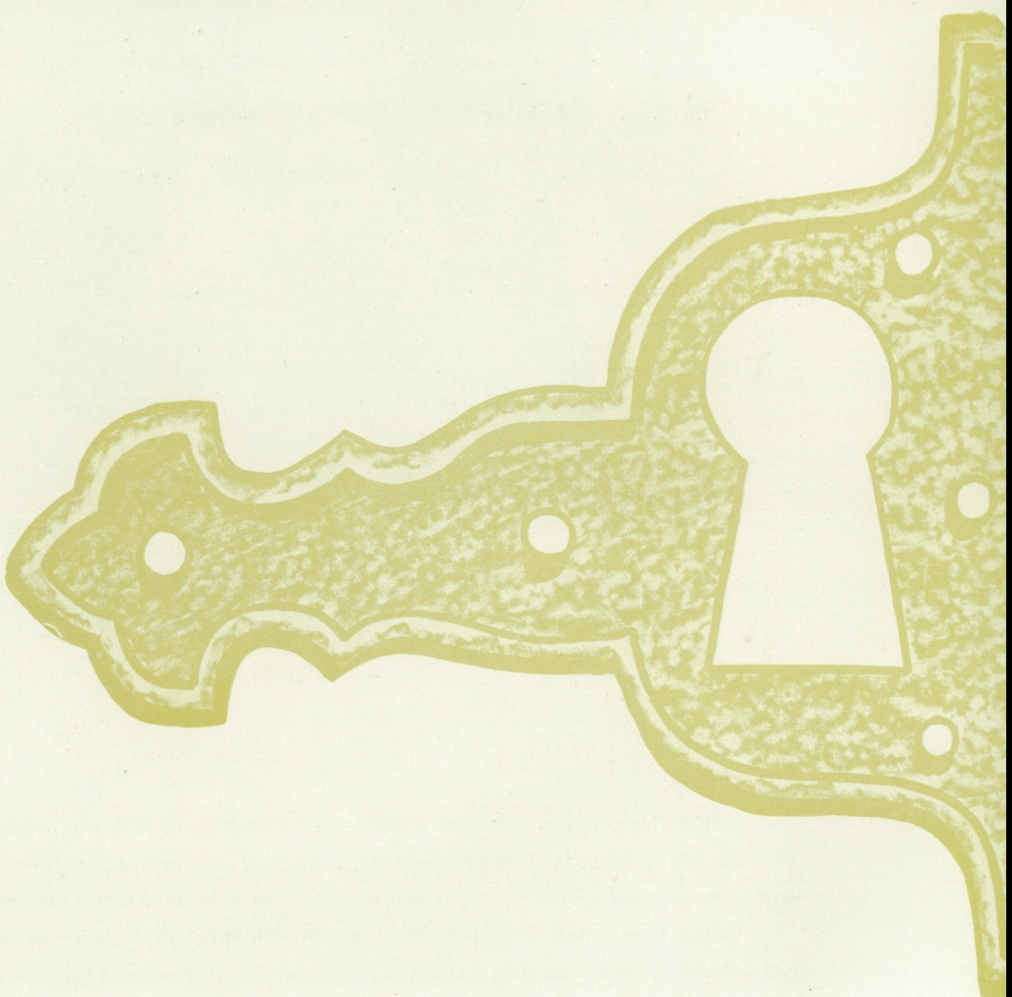

Teachers prevent such things and show us the way to good education and living.

Education is an important part of happiness; without it success in modern life is nearly impossible. Education also adds to enjoyment of life by providing skills that in turn give leisure and entertainment.

Since our faculty unlocks for us the priceless door to education, our faculty is our

MARION CLASON

When this page is covered with the scribbled good luck messages and signatures of your many friends, I hope that the theme of my message will remain uncovered and remembered. That theme is Pride—pride in a student body second to none.

When I say "hello" to you as I pass you in the hall, I may not know your name, but I do know that you are a student of Rogers, and in most cases I am very proud of it. What you do throughout the school year as shown in the pages of this year book and your scholarship record determines the magnitude of that pride.

May I copy the style of your own messages and say—you're a swell bunch of kids and I wish you the best of luck.

J. L. PURDY, Principal

Where are you going?

In the year of 1951 have you mapped a course for the future? Are you using the facilities of the school profitably to fit yourself for life—for a job—for a place in society? If you are hitting your studies hard, if you are taking your part in activities and if you are contributing to your student government, then, you are.

Did you make the grade?

When you re-read these pages ten years from 1951, where are you? Can you look back and see the omissions and errors? Can you recall the successes and the "good times"? Do you measure up to your original plans?

Your advisers and teachers hope that Rogers and its Treasure Chest will truly be a chest of treasured memories, of pleasant associates and of realized ambitions. We at Rogers like to be proud of our student, both those in school and those who have been graduated—and we are!

These are our teachers, our keys to education at Rogers. During the year three of these instructors—Fred Brown, Ray Roestel, and M. E. Stoddard—were called to active duty in the armed services. We wish them a speedy return. A fourth teacher, Manley Sackett, left for health reasons. Through four years, our teachers have been our friends, advisers, instructors, and policemen.

When seniors graduate, in effect, they win their independence from childhood and adolescence.

During high school almost all the students live with their parents and depend upon them for financial and moral support.

Certainly, many boys earn spending money by working after school and girls earn by baby-sitting, but after all, they aren't paying room and board and paying for all their clothes and necessities for life.

After high school the person usually strikes out on his own, either to a job or to college. With this job or living away from home at college comes a new sense of responsibility and independence.

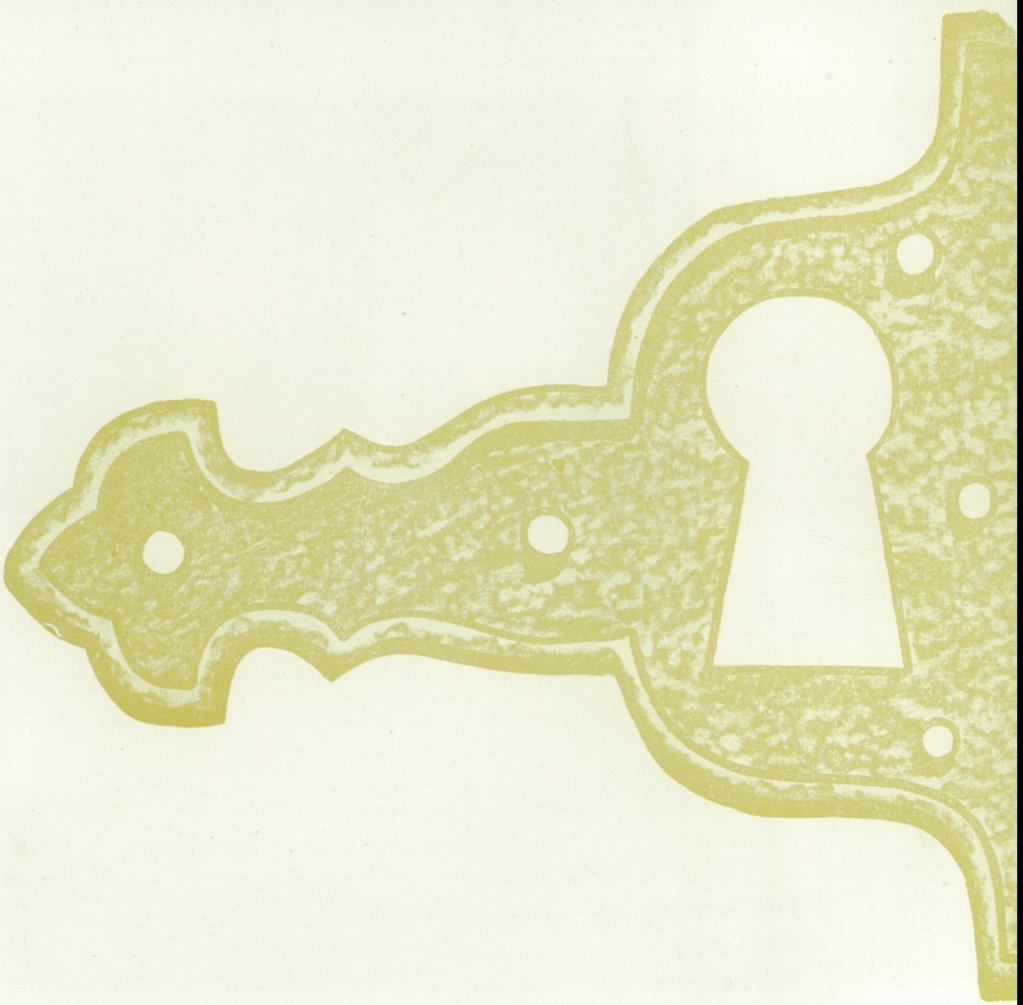

New problems arise that must be solved alone. Parents can't help you make good on the job or at college; that is an individual problem. With the solving of these problems comes mental maturity and independence.

Also, new responsibilities come along, new duties to be done. The success in shouldering these responsibilities adds to the satisfying feeling of independence.

Since the seniors are about ready to begin this new stage, open this new door, they are the

These June and January seniors have now received their Key to Independence and, with the door to life standing open before them, can pick their own future.

During the four years they were at Rogers, their attitudes, habits and aims were guided by the experienced hands of their teachers and advisers. They were given a taste of the many fields open to them after high school. Their sense of responsibility was sharpened by participating in sports, school clubs, student government and music. All have added something to the school; good or bad, it was up to them.

In ten years these students will look back at these years and know then, if not now, that high school really was the door to the future.

Friendship is one of the most important elements of happiness.

Friends, and enemies, come from the group of people with whom one associates. Strangers can be neither friends nor enemies. Qualities of personality determine largely whether two people are friends or enemies. Since only those who know us know our personalities, they are the ones who will respond to our behavior and become either a friendly associate or an unfriendly one.

Friends are made or lost in the everyday atmosphere of home room and class room. These are the people who see us, not only at our best, but at our worst, when we are happy, angry, or disappointed.

How we get along with our close associates, how we speak to them, treat them, determines how many and what kind of friends we have.

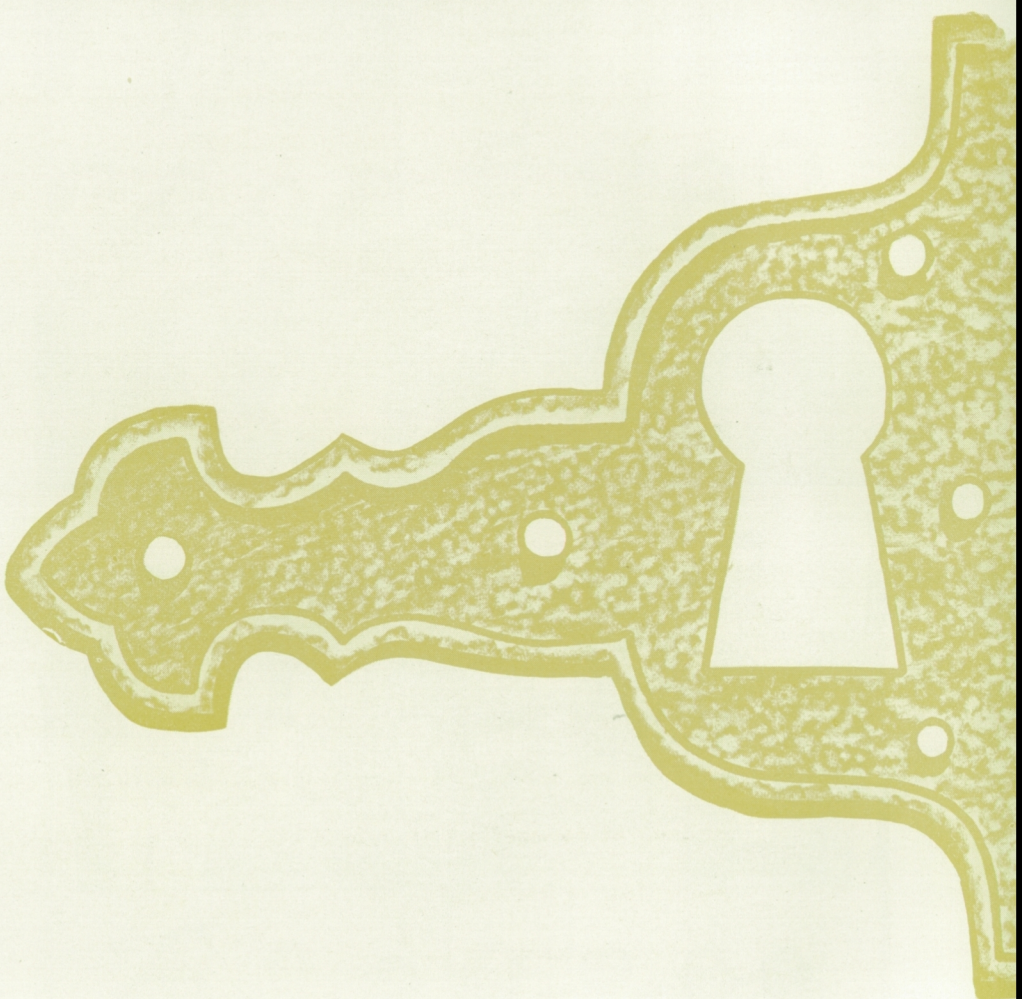

In high school our close associates, outside our families, are usually our classmates. These are the people with whom we talk. study, and play.

They are always judges and jury; they decide whether we have the qualities of personality that make it possible for us to pass through that magic door of friendship.

Our classmates are our

Success is something everybody longs for, something essential to happiness now and later.

In high school, the key to success is activities, such as the various clubs, dramatics, music and journalism.

In these activities, the student earns the symbols of success—pins. The student who earns the pin, earns a school honor.

When a student has several pins, for clubs and Girls' League or Boys' Federation, he has a sense of belonging and success.

To become a member of a club or activity, the student must have at least an average scholastic record and be liked by his fellow students.

Then he must be a useful member of the club. To become useful, he must exercise initiative and good hard work. He has to volunteer for committees and do some of the necessary work of the club.

By being a useful member of the group, he earns his pin and is, in the eyes of fellow students and his teachers, a success in high school.

Activities, band, orchestra, dramatics, clubs, National Honor Socoety, student government—all these offer the opportunity to any student to earn a pin and become a success. Therefore, activities are the

The Importance of Being Earnest

The fall dramatic production, "The Importance of Being Earnest," by Oscar Wilde, was styled after the old arena-type plays. The audience was seated in a circle around the arena and they watched the comedy as it unfolded in front of them. This new experiment in staging and direction told the story of two friends who used imaginary relatives as excuses to escape from distasteful social functions.

The stage was set in the Pirates' Cove and was presented from November 8 to 11, under the direction of Dale Brannon, dramatics coach. The character parts were double-cast because of the many performances.

The staff for the fall play was:

Lane ..... Bill Gillis
Larry Thrasher
Algernon Moncrieff ..... Earl Nechanicky
Bob Northrop
John Worthing ..... Jerry Mickey
Gene McKay
Lady Bracknell ..... Janet Airey
Hon. Gwendolen Firfax ..... Pat Ryan
Cecily Cardew ..... Beverly Watson

Belvedere

The Rogers dramatists presented "Belvedere," by Gwen Davenport, for the spring production. The play is the stage version of the motion picture, "Sitting Pretty," which introduced Clifton Webb as Lynn Belvedere, the genius baby-sitter, who took over this task to get material for a book. Tacey and Harry King, the harassed parents of three, supply the children for Belvedere's experiment.

The production was presented in Rogers auditorium, under the direction of Dale Brannon, and ran two days, April 20 and 21. This was one of the few plays where freshmen were used in the cast.

The cast for "Belvedere" was:

Sportsmanship, fair play, these are American ideals. They are also factors that contribute to success and happiness. The student who doesn't play fair is never liked or respected and doesn't usually get far in high school or in business.

The two-faced girl or boy is likely to be one of the loneliest.

In sports, the student has to play by the rules. This teaches him to "play by the rule" in everyday life as well, for when he violates a baseball rule, for example, he is very likely to get a penalty for his team or even be thrown out of the game. This teaches a healthy respect for the rules and thus develops sportsmanship.

This is good training for other things. The habits formed in sports carry over to other work and the fair play learned is used.

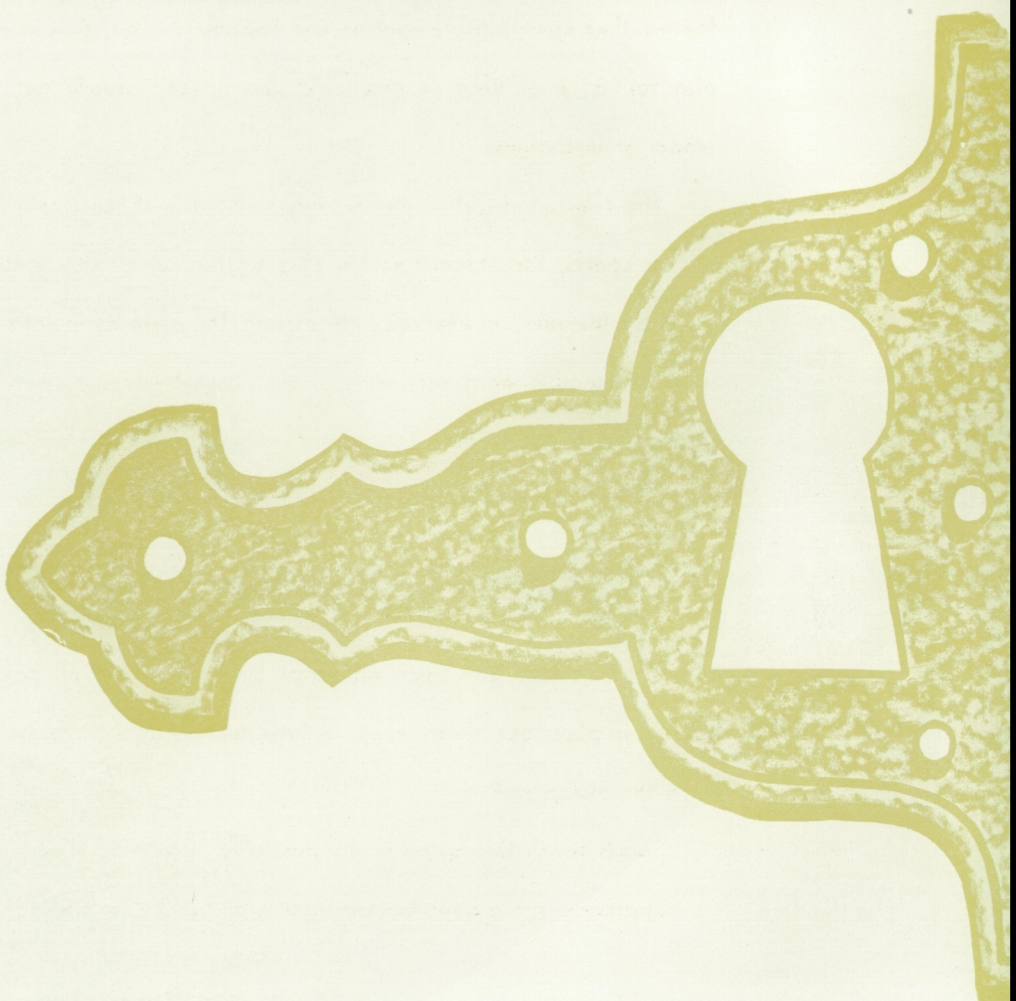

All boys and girls must take part in games. Not all boys and girls learn fair play, but those who are intelligent and wish to be successful, learn the lesson well.

Sports teach this lesson in the best way. Fair play is learned easily.

Sports open the door to sportsmanship. Sports are the

The Pirate football team's season scores show how hard and how well the team fought for Rogers this season. The scores are also an indication of the excellent staff of coaches the school has. Coach Fred Brown, head coach, was called to active duty in the Navy midway in the season. Athletic Director Carl Ellingsen finished the season as head coach.

The B Squad Football Team is the training grounds for the varsity players. Here, boys learn the techniques of football that they will need to become varsity players. Boys begin to learn the importance of team play and sportsmanship on the Freshman Team. This is the beginning for the later stars.

As in football, the B Squad in basketball serves to get boys used to playing ball before spectators. The same realistic atmosphere is carried out in Freshman team play to give the boys more experience. These boys for both squads are also learning more about the importance of teamwork.

The Varsity Baseball Team "played ball" with other schools during the spring sports season. At the first game of the year, with Lewis and Clark, the Spring Sports Queen was crowned and she threw the first ball out to start the season.

The baseball team, under the coaching of Joe Stover, played in a round robin match with the other city high schools—Gonzaga, Lewis and Clark and North Central. They played three times with each school to determine who would cop the 1951 Baseball crown. The Rogers squad learned the value of having a team and not depending upon one or two players to carry them through a victorious season. Although they lost several games, they had fun and their feeling of fair play and good sportsmanship kept their spirits up and they played every game to win.

Top—Down: Davis, Amsden, Haffner.
Right: Harrison. Absent: Bohnet.

First row: Davies, Miller, Euingsen, Morgan, Frye, Lewis. Second row: Dahl, Mantello, Barnes, Martello, Haggin, Conrad, Armitage. Third row: Akins, Adams, Cruzen, Craig, Sweet, Swinehart, Thompson.

Baseball, too, has its B Squad. The B Squad practices at the same time as the varsity team. Many of its players will be on the varsity next year, if they show the proper results. The Freshman Team is the place where the good and bad players are weeded out. If they show the proper interest in the game, they will probably be on the B Squad the next year.

First row: Moon, Gosline, Schaffer, Ward, Kenworthy, Oberg, Russell, Stone, Second row: Sleizer, Atkins, Mitchell, Gilbertson, Otis, Thomason, Miller, Sannes, Nelson, Hussey.

These are the Baseball Scores for this spring as far as May 10. These scores show how the team compared against the other city schools. They play each school three times and this was the first round in the round-robin games. The Varsity Baseball Team is composed of boys who show their ability to come through when needed and are strong in sportsmanship.

The boys in the different classes enter into a yearly Interclass Track Meet to see which class has the best athletes. Long, hard runs over country that can be hilly, rough, straight or smooth is the lot of the boys on the Cross-Country team. This is one of the main fall track events.

The Boys' Golf Team practices and plays matches with other golfers on local municipal links. The team competes against the teams of the other city schools. The Boys' Tennis Team is one of the best in the city. Under the coaching of LaVerne Mabbott, the boys learn to play better tennis.

The Rogers marching unit, the Pirettes, perform at games, cons and parades.

The Rogers Majorettes strut in parades. Marching and twirling, they perform in stunts with the Pirette unit. Flags fly in the stunts and parades, too. These are wielded by the Flags, another part of the Pirettes, coached by Miss Mildred Ryan and Miss Eleanor Mele.

The Cheerleaders lead both songs and yells to help build up the school pep. They perform at games, "on the line" in fair weather and foul. These Pepsters are the chief factor in the tradition of Rogers' school spirit. They sell tickets to the games and promote the many sports events.

Girls' Athletic Awards

Girls also earn rewards for participating in sports. Some earn letters, others ribbons, all earned their right to their athletic awards. Members of the Pirette unit also receive awards. The Majorettes and Flags are awarded the emblems they wore during the year. The marchers receive chinille emblems. The outstanding majorette, marcher, and flag twirler receive a pin. The school's song and cheerleaders each receive a pin for their service to the school.

The winning basketball intramural team now gets their team's name on a cup. This cup was given to the Girls' P. E. department by the P.-T. A. this year. Another trophy awarded this year was the Softball plaque, the girls on the winning team get ribbons and the name of the team is engraved on the plaque. Tennis offers many opportunities to girls. Girls on the tennis team can earn letters, and according to Miss Mele, the qualifications have changed. It no longer depends upon how many games the girl wins, but according to how faithfully she practices, her tennis matches and her improvement during the tennis season.

The Girls' Tennis Team is equal to that of the Boys' Tennis Team as they also practice hard for the city competition. The girls turn out sixth period and after school. The city matches held in Spokane, include Lewis and Clark, North Central, and West Valley. The girls' showing in these matches determine partly if they receive a tennis letter.

First row: Coursey, Hutcheson, D. Reue, Bump, Crosby, Lorsung, Shand, Lund, Baker, Hansen.
Second row: Miss Ryan, Whipps, Fay, Santora, Warford, Yden, Mahoney, Rexroad, Vandergoog, Uttke, Green.

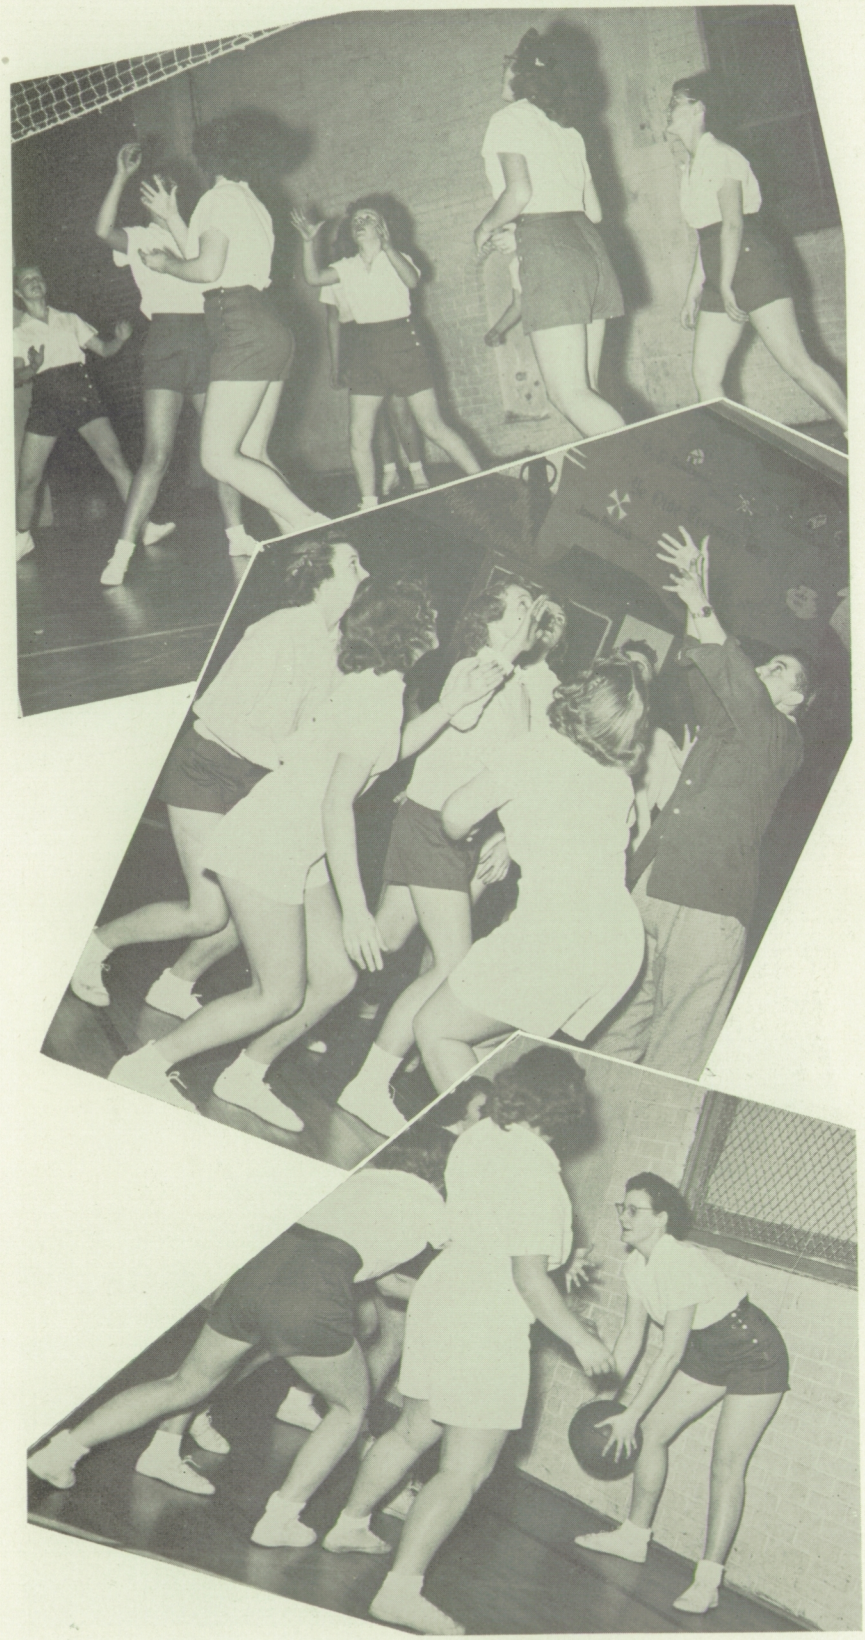

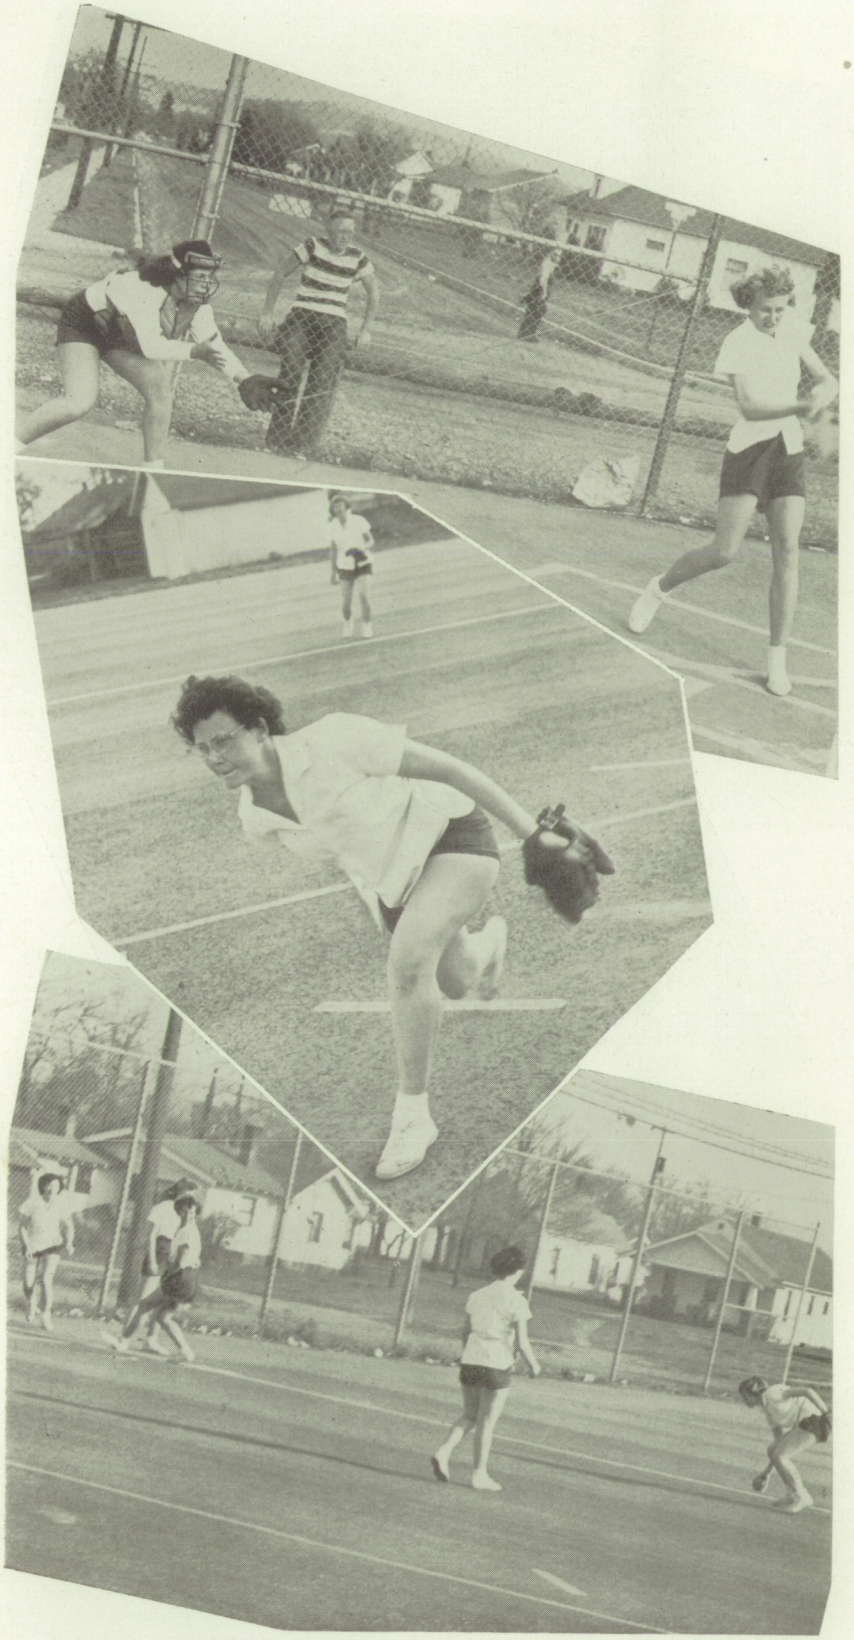

Girls Athletics

Boys and girls at Rogers who are interested in horseback riding have the chance to practice the hobby through school gym classes and after school on scheduled days at the Wellesley Riding Stables. Girls as well as boys can earn basketball team trophies now, thanks to the Rogers P.-T. A. which donated two trophies this year for girls intramural sports.

Much valuable playing experience is gained in regular gym classes, too. Here girls learn the fundamentals of sports such as basketball so that they can play on teams.

Girls in beginning gym classes are taught how to play many different games. In the fall, volleyball is of prime importance. Knowledge of the rules as well as skill in playing are stressed. Practice games with classmates and real competitive games with other schools promote enthusiasm and fair play. The excitement of playing is evident from the tense looks on the girls' faces and their shouts to teammates. Basketball is the game in the winter along with badminton. The girls form teams to play not only other teams in the city but other towns as well.

Girls Athletics

After the winter sports of basketball and volleyball, badminton and swimming, come the spring sports. Girls' tennis and softball lead the field. Tennis is one of the regular spring and fall girls' sports. The girls play the different city schools and also West Valley and Central Valley. Softball is the other major spring sport. The girls turn out after school and practice for their coming spring matches. They play the other schools including the junior high. Some times they also play teams from different cities and out of state.

In the golden sunset of the Westland,
None her splendor to deny,
Staunch and noble stands our Alma Mater.
We love thee, Rogers High!

In each contest we'll uphold thee,
Lift thy banner to the sky.
Laud and honor to our Alma Mater,
We sing of Rogers High.
